Mesa, AZ – Mesa Contemporary Arts Museum presents five new contemporary exhibitions, showcasing curated and juried exhibitions of contemporary art by emerging and internationally recognized artists. Exhibitions will be celebrated at a free reception, Friday, Feb. 13, 7:00 – 10:00 p.m. in the museum courtyard.

Exhibitions opening on or after Dec. 15 include: Insectographia: Drawing in Enamel by Charity Hall; Arrangement for a Silent Orchestra, by Julie Comnick; Chamber Music: A Mostly Silent Exhibition, by Diane Gilbert; 36th Annual Contemporary Craft Exhibition; and Beaded, not Broken, by Brenda Brousseau.

Insectographia: Drawing in Enamel*
Charity Hall

Dec 12, 2014 – Mar 1, 2015 | SRP Gallery

This exhibition features the biologically inspired enamels of Blacksburg, Virginia artist Charity Hall. With an emphasis on entomological imagery, Hall looks beyond the ick factor generally associated with insects and captures their inherent beauty on hand-fabricated brooches and other small jewelry items. On her enameled surfaces, Hall incorporates a variety of traditional and contemporary methods including drawing, painting and sgraffito.

Arrangement for a Silent Orchestra

Julie Cornick

Dec 19, 2014 – Mar 22, 2015 | South Gallery

Arrangement for a Silent Orchestra is a painting and video project that explores the gradual dissolution of culture in contemporary society through the symbolic ruin of a personal and cultural icon, the violin. Using the violin as a metaphor, Prescott artist Julie Cornick raises questions about the relationship between increasing technology and diminishing cultural heritage. She invites the audience to consider what makes the instrument precious in his or her own experience and the impact of its loss.

Chamber Music: A Mostly Silent Installation

Diane Gilbert

Jan 23 – Apr 26, 2015 | North Gallery

Diane Gilbert's installation creates a spatial environment full of subtle light, expressive shadows, and sculptural forms that are mostly air. Her materials are thousands of played guitar strings and tiny squares of painted screen. Each piece is composed of strings played by many musicians who never knew each other but are now playing silently together contributing to the larger expression of a luminous space.

Beaded, not Broken

Brenda Brousseau

Feb 13 – Apr 12, 2015 | Project Room

Inspired by traditional Native American beadwork, Minnesota artist Brenda Brousseau uses beads to convey her journey of spiritual growth and healing. Brousseau incorporates ritually significant objects, like headdresses and mandalas, into her work and layers them with personal symbolism and meaning. For Brousseau, the meticulous beading process becomes a creative outlet and meditative practice. Brenda Brousseau is the 35th Annual Contemporary Crafts exhibition Juror's Choice winner.

36th Annual Contemporary Craft Exhibition
A National Juried Exhibition
